

Open House Tomorrow

Golf Simulator Open House – November 10th

With the weather starting to turn, now is a great time to get your winter golf practice/lesson program organized.

We have a great facility to take advantage of and keep your golf game in shape during the upcoming winter months. I've found that just some routine practice keeps my golf muscles in shape and short game still sharp.

The indoor center at Glen View Club has two hitting bays with video and is a great way to work on possible swing changes in a controlled environment without the visual effect of ball flight. With our TrackMan unit and our golf simulator, you can still see what your ball flight would look like.

Many members have asked about the equipment downstairs and how to use it. To make it easier, Chris Green and I will be holding an Open House on Saturday, November 10th from 8-11am in the Pro Shop Basement to walk everyone through how to use the equipment and see all of the options that members have available. You will also be able to get your winter lesson program set up that day as well.

Expertise available to you

The “Gear Effect” on you

Last week we talked about the impact of different strike zones on the spin rate and therefore distance of your tee shots. We mentioned the “Gear Effect”.

Here's how “Gear Effect” works. If you strike the ball on the sweet spot, then you won't experience any effect. Hitting above the sweet spot reduces backspin.

If you strike the club face slightly above the sweet spot, the club will twist backward around the Center of Gravity. The “Gear Effect” is that it will produce the opposite effect on the ball; adding topspin, which reduces the amount of backspin on the ball.

The diagram on the right, highlights why this is known as the “Gear Effect”. As the large gear rotates anti-clockwise, it sends the small gear clockwise.

Reducing the spin rate on the tee shots of most of our golfers by just 400rpm would unlock 10 – 15 extra yards.

Reach out now and let's see whether a quick evaluation might unlock a lot of extra distance WITHOUT you having to make an equipment purchase.

Titleist TS Drivers

Technology going to new heights and faster speeds

The crown, face, chassis, head shape, weight distribution, have all been redesigned to increase speed across the whole face while protecting launch conditions. The extra speed is combined with lower spin rates to create a longer carry.

What motivates you?

What are you most looking forward to, as you arrive?

We're trying to gain a better understanding of what's important to our golfers. Last week we had a simple question relating to social golf vs competitive golf. If you missed it and want to answer,
