Feel the thrill

Don't leave potential behind

The reason we're able to add so many yards to our golfers' tee shots, is the amount of potential they leave behind even after making great contact. There's a different launch DNA for each golfer that maximizes potential.

Now it's time to "tune" your performance. Can we change your angle of attack? How do we influence the amount of spin you create? What is the launch angle that works best for you?

Ball speed

Launch angle

Spin rate

We're delivering thrills

Creating the perfect match of ball speed, launch angle, and spin rate, maximizes the distance you'll get off the tee. A change of just 1° and 500rpm can unlock 20 yards. How much potential can we unlock for you?

The Par 3 Advantage

Think your way around the Par 3s

What's your average score on the Par 3s? For most of the golfers we see, improved game management would lower that average. The target and club selection are critical parts of game management on Par 3s.

This is the safe target area with lots of room for error.

This is not the target area, despite the flag being in this part of the green.

If you're comfortable with the distance to the target, then this is a good safety area.

If you're NOT comfortable with the length of the Par 3 you're playing, look for a safe area short of the green that leaves you an easy pitch.

On this hole, if you're going for the target area in the center of the green, take a club which, if you strike it well, will get you to the very back of the green. None of us hit the ball perfectly on most shots. We all usually come up at least a little short.

Jack Nicklaus believed he could improve any golfer's scorecard by more than a few shots if he accompanied them on the round and selected the club and target on every shot. He would play the percentages NOT expecting a perfect shot every time.

Make Par 3 improvement a priority

That's an idea. If you and some friends would like to be accompanied on a round, then let's see how much better you score, if you let us help you with the percentages.
