Know where golf works the body

The reason golf is an excellent game for women is that it's NOT a battle of the biceps, like many other sports. It's a game where your glutes and core are much more fundamental to the game than your arms. Understanding that not only unlocks power for every golfer, however big or small, it's also the key to accuracy and consistency. Are you interested in unlocking a better golf game? Contact us.

Spin: friend or foe?

The impact zone and launch

In the last weeks we've described how a simple swing fault (the angle of attack) can lower launch angle and increase spin, robbing you of 20+ yards of tee shot distance. Miss the sweet spot, and you lose more than ball speed, you also impact your launch DNA.

A common error we see is golfers consistently making contact below the sweet spot. It might still feel solid, but tests run by Golf Magazine revealed a likely loss of up to 4° of launch angle and an increase of nearly 800rpm. For the regular golfer that's a loss of between 10 and 15 yards.

Most manufacturers are now working hard to release new drivers that protect launch and spin, as well as ball speed away from the sweet spot. That helps make significant improvements to average distance as well as increasing the distance on your perfect strikes.

Don't let spin rob you

Book an assessment with us and let's find your personal launch DNA: the perfect match of launch and spin for the ball speed you're creating.

Fall in love with golf

matters to everyone.

It's not just children and young people that want to know that learning golf is a fun process right from the start. Anyone learning the game wants to know that.

So introduce fun into someone's life.

If you have a spouse or sibling or friend that doesn't play golf, then introduce us to them. We can introduce them to the game making sure they're enjoying the experience right from the get-go. We'll make sure they're comfortable. We'll introduce them to people just like them. People who want to give golf a try. We'll help them make new friends and discover the thrill of a sweetly struck golf shot.

Send your details or contact us with their details.
