It's all in the balance

Dale Brooks, new PGA Professional on the AJS Golf Team, draws inspiration from a lesson he took to heart from one of his first golf lessons. A lot of golfers tend to put their weight too far on their right and then they lose their balance, which affects the swing and power and consistency.

Dale shows us in the video below a simple tip on how to improve on this:

What makes the BIGGEST IMPACT?

Discovering what has the most impact on your scorecard is a fun start to your improvement journey. It's the first step on the way to shooting new lows. So, we want you to keep some simple statistics over your next 4 rounds and then we want you to come see us for an assessment. We'll start with fairways found off the tee.

You might be surprised by some of THE RESULTS.

If you compare your fairways hit over 4 rounds, does a higher number hit, translate into a lower score?

"The number of fairways found off the tee box is an important performance measure. And by the way, improving this statistic also influences how much you're likely to enjoy your round, as well as offering an opportunity to get you below 90."
