Genius on the greens

A revealing game for the putting green

We'd like to credit golf.com with an interesting skills challenge that might reveal potential in your golf game.

Find ten different 25-foot putt locations on a practice green. Take a putt from each location.

Note how many you get within 2 feet of the hole; how many between 2 and 3 feet, and how many between 3 and 4 feet.

To find out what the scores mean

We think most of our golfers will find their average on this putt length is between 2 and 3 feet, with some even higher.

What will be holding most back is the consistency of their stroke.

1

Control of the putter on the backswing and control of backswing length needs improvement.

2

The tempo of the stroke varies.

3

Setup and ball position are inconsistent.

More than a score, there's satisfaction

Improving your putting stroke is about more than taking shots off your scorecard. It's about increasing the number of holes you finish with the satisfaction of a solid two-putt or even a birdie. Let us help improve your putting stroke.
