Golf with a twist

Turn the scoring zone into your playground

You play over half of your shots on a normal round in the 'scoring zone' (the area inside 100 metres of the green). So it makes sense that you'd want to improve in this zone, and playing a round of holes in this zone is a fun way to do that.

"Take only the clubs you know you'll need to play the final 100 metres of any hole. Leave the tee boxes and most of the fairway behind you as you drop a ball inside your scoring zone of each hole and play from there. And feel free to play more than one ball if you like."

Throw out the scorecard

Don't restrict golf to an 18-hole, par-72, 4-hour experience. It can be so much more than that. You can choose how you want to enjoy golf each time you play. That may be a traditional format on one day and a 70-metre, 9-hole format on another day. Free yourself up to more ways of enjoying this great game.

Four reasons why Accompanied play isn't a 'lesson'

We're looking to book 9-hole accompanied play with golfers who might not be as experienced or committed to the game.

We don't want to give you a lesson. But sometimes, while we're enjoying a fun time out on the course, the smallest change or simplest insight, helps to make golf a great love affair.
