From the Founder's Desk

There is great value in setting goals, writing them down and sharing. Junior Academy student Grant Labuschagne posted "My goal is to shoot 72 today" on Friday morning before his medal round on our player support app CoachNow. While Grant fell just short of his target score, making his target known to his support team helped to manifest a medal victory with his eventual score of 73. Well done, Grant. Doing the extra things that others won't is the smartest way to differentiate yourself from the crowd.

ALUMNI TESTIMONIAL

“ BSI has helped me learn more about the industry and how each part of the industry functions and what is required of you to be successful. I have learned many life lessons at BSI that I still carry with me and use daily. The staff is excellent and friendly. The quality of education is great and so is the coaching and training in the gym. The programmes at BSI opens doors for you in the industry across the globe. I got the opportunity to work in America and Thailand as well. I would recommend any person to join the academy ”
